

THE ELEMENTS.

Much Destruction Wrought By Wind and Rain.

Two Train Loads of People Saved as If By Magic in Kentucky.

Seven in One Family Killed in a Texas Town—A Terrible Cyclone Lifts Two Railway Cars Bodily From the Track Near Vienna, Austria.

BOYD, Ky., June 2.—The most terrific wind storm this section has ever experienced passed over here, uprooting trees, unroofing houses and laying fences flat before it. The tremendous force of the roaring boreas is plainly visible, as no spot in this immediate locality is left without some mark of destruction.

The afternoon north and south bound trains pass here, and they were due about the time that the storm approached. The train from the north arrived first and took siding east of the main track. This is contrary to the regular custom, as this train usually keeps the main track, but this change doubtless saved much damage to the train, and probably several lives, as it had barely entered the siding when the first burst of wind came, literally covering the main track with uprooted trees and heavy branches, one even being carried so far as to reach the train where it stood, falling between the coaches.

Fortunately also the south-bound train was several minutes late, or it would have been standing on the main track, and doubtless caught by the heavy timbers. As it was both trains were completely hedged in, and it required several hours working to clear the track.

After the first burst of wind the rain came down in torrents, followed by heavy hail. Men, women and children ran in all directions from the train through the storm seeking places of safety.

The yards of G. R. Durant and J. W. Throckmorton were mostly stripped of their numerous and beautiful shade trees, many of them being blown against the house.

TEMPLE, Tex., June 2.—The storm proves more severe than was supposed. At Durango many houses were wrecked and that little place almost wiped away. Tom Weather's wife and six children were killed outright, the only one surviving member of the family being their youngest child, an infant, which miraculously escaped. The storm took a peculiar freak at Fayetteville. A panel door of the house was cut in two, but no other damage was done except to the stock house, one half of which was cut off.

VIENNA, June 2.—The mail train running from Agram to Brod was struck by a cyclone Wednesday while it was at the Nowaki Station. The terrible force of the wind is shown by the fact that two of the carriages composing the train were lifted bodily into the air and hurled down an embankment, causing the greatest consternation among the passengers. Other carriages were knocked over by the violence of the storm and badly smashed. Twenty of the persons on the train at the time it was struck by the cyclone were badly injured, some of them fatally.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—For Tennessee and Kentucky—Wind shifting to cooler west-southwest and local rains, and probably thunder storms, especially in eastern portions; fair Friday.

For lower Michigan and Indiana—Cloudy weather and local rains; cooler; north winds; fair and cooler Friday.

For West Virginia, Ohio and western Pennsylvania—Cloudy weather and local rains, and probably some thunder storms; south shifting to cooling west winds; cooler and probably fair Friday.

A Sickening Spectacle.

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 2.—Samuel Martin, a brakeman, was making a running switch for a split turn. He jumped off the first half to turn the switch, but slipped and fell. The last half of the train passed over his legs, cutting them both off. Martin lived near the scene of the accident, and his young wife was standing in the door and witnessed it. She was nearly crazed with grief and horror at the sight. Martin is only twenty-four years of age, and had been married only a short time.

HARRISON'S SILVER MESSAGE.

Full Text of His Invitation to France to Take Part in the International Conference.

PARIS, June 2.—Following is the text of the official invitation in regard to the silver question, which has been addressed to France by the U. S. government.

"The Charge d'Affaires of the United States to M. Ribot, minister of foreign affairs, Paris, May 10, 1892.

"Sir—By the president's direction I am instructed to call the attention of your excellency to the desirability and expediency of holding on the part of the European nations with the United States of America a conference on the present condition of silver.

"It is the opinion of the president and, as he believes, of the people of the United States, with singular unanimity, that a full use of silver as a coin metal upon a ratio to gold, to be fixed by an agreement between the great commercial nations of the world, would very highly promote the prosperity of all nations and of all classes of people.

"He is aware, however, of the fact that the opinions of some other nations whose co-operation in a successful movement is most desirable, may not be in full accord with his views or with the public opinion of the United States. He is led, however, to believe that a sentiment for a larger use of silver has been growing throughout the world, and that the time is now propitious for the holding of an international conference to discuss the whole question. The U. S. government while frankly disclosing its own views and the purpose it would desire to attain, does not wish to interpose any conditions that will embarrass any government that is willing to confer generally upon the subject of the proper and most advantageous relations of silver to the coinage of the world in accepting this invitation for an international conference. The U. S. government, therefore, proposes a convention of the powers for the purpose of conferring as to what measures, if any, can be taken to increase the use of silver in the currency system of nations.

STATE HEALTH BOARD.

Another Analysis of Ohio River Water to Be Made.

COLUMBUS, O., June 2.—The state board of health held its regular quarterly meeting Wednesday night. Secretary Probst submitted his report, in which he recommended that the sanitary inspection of the public institutions be completed. He also gave in detail the result of his investigation of the recent cerebrospinal meningitis epidemic at Coshocton, and referred to the small-pox scare at Pomeroy and Middleport. The board decided to authorize Dr. Bliehl, of the State university, to make an analysis of Ohio river water upon the spot from which the samples are taken. Heretofore these samples have been sent to the state chemist packed in ice, and the value of the analysis was thus often impaired. Thursday the state board of health will meet in conjunction with the State association of funeral directors, which is now in session here. Dr. S. P. Wise will read a paper upon "Infection and Disinfection."

The train was flagged, and the engineer and fireman were taken prisoners. The robbers then entered the express car, broke open the safe and secured its contents. The amount obtained is said to be $50,000. The passengers were not molested. Deputy U. S. The Roof of the Mine Caught Fire, Spreading Through the Works.

The Escape of the Miners Was Cut Off and Many Perished—After the Fire Was Extinguished Forty Dead Bodies Were Recovered.

PRAGUE, June 2.—An appalling accident has occurred at the famous Birkberg silver mine, near Pribram, in Bohemia. The timbers used in supporting the roof of the mine caught fire and the flames spread from one part of the workings to another until the whole interior of the mine was a mass of fire. The escape of the men working in the mine was cut off, and though it is not known how many of them were killed, it is admitted that the list of the dead will be large.

After a long struggle the fire was extinguished and volunteers went down into the mine to rescue any one who might have lived through the conflagration. The rescuing party found no trace of life, but they discovered twelve bodies which were sent to the surface. The volunteers are still at work in the mine.

A later dispatch from Pribram states that 500 men were working in the mine at the time. All but forty of them succeeded in making their escape. Fourteen bodies have been recovered. Many others who were seriously injured during the night owing to the suffocating gases with which the mine was filled. It was resumed at an early hour Wednesday morning.

A CENTURY OLD.

Kentucky Admitted to Statehood June 1, 1792—The Celebration.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 2.—Several weeks ago Mr. S. E. Peyton, formerly of Bourbon county, Ky., but for the last few years a citizen of Philadelphia, conceived the idea of having the city of brotherly love present to Kentucky paintings of the three famous buildings—Independence hall, Carpenter's hall and Faneuil hall. These pictures are intended as a kind of birthday present to Kentucky, it having been 100 years since Kentucky was admitted to the sisterhood of states.

It was at first intended to give an old-fashioned Kentucky barbecue, to which everybody should be invited, but the time being so short and a large barbecue such a stupendous undertaking that it was finally decided to make a semi-private affair, and about 1,000 invitations were issued to prominent people in Kentucky and elsewhere to be present. The presentation of the paintings, it was decided, should be public, and therefore a large and commodious stand was erected on Chesapeake, near the statue of Gen. John C. Breckinridge, presented by Kentucky. On this platform the three paintings were mounted on large easels and properly veiled.

The speakers and members of the committee of Philadelphia citizens occupied the platform, together with leading citizens and members of the state government, etc. The following was selected as the programme:

Music—"Hail Columbia."

Prayer by Rev. E. A. Penick, of Frankfort.

Address of Welcome—Hon. J. Hull Davidson, mayor of Lexington.

CLEVELAND, O., June 2.—A year ago the council passed an ordinance reducing the price of gas from $1 to sixty cents a thousand. The two gas companies took the matter into the U. The terms agreed upon and ratified by the council provides that the rate hereafter shall be eighty cents a thousand, the city to pay that price for all gas consumed since May, 1891. The companies agree to pay into the city treasury 6 1/2 per cent of their gross receipts for gas, and to pay all the expenses of litigation. The saving to the people will be about $140,000 and to the city about $30,000, aside from the percentage, which will amount to $45,000 more.
